

Wouldn't you just love to be able to say that to your friends, colleagues and clients?

Well, if you come on Jo Parfitt's Release the Book Within – From Pipedream to Proposal course you can! Hundreds of other people have. Read what Sue Donnelly, author of '80/20 Makeover' and 'Does My Belly Look Big in This?' (buy from BookShaker.com) has to say about it:

“Jo is passionate about her work and it rubs off. You start by thinking you know nothing and end the day by believing you can write anything you want. She has the knack of finding your creativity and unleashing it. If I can write, you could too.”

The cost: £187
The venue: Romsey, Hants
The date & time: Friday November 25th 2005, 9.30 – 4.00

The benefits: A chance for you to consolidate your thinking and start planning the book(s) you were born to write, of course, but also:

- 100 pages of notes
- £50 voucher for you to spend on courses, consultancy or editing services
- Lifetime subscription to The Weekly Motivator
- Lifetime subscription to The Monthly Inspirer
- Maximum of 10 students
- Lunch and refreshments

To book:

Email Jo on jo@summertimepublishing.com. Your place will be confirmed once payment has been received in full. If the course is cancelled by the organisers a full refund will be paid. If you cancel then you may take the same course by email for no extra charge or transfer to another workshop for £25.

About the tutor:

Jo Parfitt had her first book published by the first publisher she approached (Octopus) aged 25. 'French Tarts' may have been a cookery book but Jo did not cook a single recipe and had never written anything before. Since then she has had 15 more books published on a range of subjects and has run her own small press, Summertime, since 1995, which has published 10 more titles.

